Here's what some of our members have said about the value of their membership:

"The most valuable aspect of TAGITM membership for me is that it has established professional relationships I use regularly as part of my decision making process. I always look forward to conferences and other educational venues where I have the opportunity to expand those professional contacts." Gary McFarland, City of West University Place

"TAGITM Members include CIO's, Directors, Managers, Supervisors, Programmers and other IT professionals who have been faced with, and have successfully responded to, many of these current and significant issues. Membership into TAGITM allows members the opportunity to network "face-to-face" with these technology veterans and learn from their experiences." Mike Pastor, City of Trophy Club
